BLOWING THE ROOF OFF KOERNER HALL AT 35

I can't believe it's been 35 years! A dream realized.

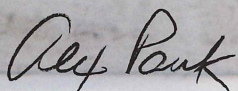

I enthusiastically welcome you to our subscription concert series at Koerner Hall in celebration of Esprit's 35th Season. I've aimed to present thought-provoking programs with strong thematic coherence and resonance.

Included are block-buster pieces as well as works having special meaning in Esprit's evolution. Programming reflects my philosophy of building artistic relationships over time to foster more substantial, lasting, and profound artistic results than can be achieved in "one-off" performance experiences. This allows audiences and musicians alike to get a deeper understanding of a composer's work.

As for our outreach activities, we are adapting Esprit's unique, exemplary, world-leading Creative Sparks mentoring program into a new project called Ontario Resonance. This project will engage 450 high school students, who will be composing and performing in celebration of Ontario's 150th Anniversary. Guided by Esprit's composers and musicians, student composers from 6 schools will create pieces to be performed by fellow students combined with Esprit's artists.

As always, exciting world premieres of Esprit-commissioned works, Canadian premieres of important international pieces, and repeat performances of exceptional works previously performed are the core ingredients of my programming. I encourage you to stick with us throughout the season - right up to the finale of the last concert when Japanese taiko drummers join us to blow the roof off Koerner Hall.

Sincerely,

From its beginning, Goddard's Spacious Euphony, a vast musical arch, builds in energy and exuberance to transform itself into a fanfare for the start of the concert as well as the celebration of Esprit's 35th Anniversary Season. Euphony ('pleasing to the ear') is definitely the right word for inclusion in the title of his piece.

Vivier's Siddhartha, his largest and most profound orchestral work, will receive its Toronto premiere. The piece encompasses every musical aspect of the mystical and spiritual explorations that consumed Vivier's life.

McPhee's passion for Balinese culture is magically interwoven into Tabuh-Tabuhan, adapting motifs and rhythms of gamelan music. This joyous work, an Esprit touchstone, aptly serves as the finale for our opening concert.

Dalbavie's violin concerto, its spectacular virtuosity combined with distribution of the orchestra throughout the hall, exhibits the full power and intellect of his music.

In Just a stranger here myself..., the idiosyncratic Schmidt delivers a panorama of musical episodes immersing listeners in dreams of world-wide places that have influenced his music.

Sokolovic's Ringelspiel (German for merry-go-round) evocatively inundates listeners with brilliantly inventive orchestration and effects to depict recollections of childhood.

With its cinematic feel, Bjarnason's Emergence sweeps the listener up in a kind of daydream that reflects the composer's wide-ranging experience working in pop and classical new music fields.

Astapov's Hear My Voice has embedded in its musical texture an early recording of Alexander Graham Bell shortly after his invention of the telephone. Paired with this piece is Tan Dun's Passacaglia: Secret of Wind and Birds, which imaginatively uses modern cell phones "played" by the orchestra and audience members to create "a poetic forest of digital birds".

Evangelista's Symphonie minute, contrasting with most symphonies' grand proportions in duration, instrumentation, and power of expression, is a work of great charm in four short movements with light textures and rapid tempos.

Chin's glittering, rattling, whirring piece Mannequin, and Ricketts' new work Lilt have both been composed with "imaginary choreography" as a creative stimulus. Esprit has commissioned Jennifer Nichols to choreograph and perform a dance with the premiere of Lilt.

Ishii's Mono-Prism brims with emotional, intoxicating energy. Seven Japanese taiko drummers provide the monochrome sounds which are set against the prismatic tone quality of the orchestra in an ever-changing tonal diversity and dynamism.

Wilson's Dark Matter takes data from the Large Hadron Collider at CERN, the world's largest particle accelerator, as raw material to be realized in poetic sound and vision. The groundbreaking search for elusive 'new physics' in the form of 'dark matter' provides inspiration for an exploration in images, electronic sound, and orchestral energy.

Fuhong Shi returns to Canada for the performance of her Concentric Circles. The world premiere of Chris Paul Harman's new work for soprano and orchestra reinforces Esprit's strong belief in and support for the composer's exceptional creativity.

Featuring Six World Premieres by Ontario Resonance Mentoring Composers, plus a selection of exceptional student works!

Free admission for the general public.

Ontario Resonance is a free student mentorship program created by Esprit Orchestra with support from the Government of Ontario to mark Ontario's 150th anniversary. Students at six schools across the GTA are paired with a professional composer, who mentors them in the creation of their own piece of music, which is then performed by a combination of student musicians and members of Esprit Orchestra. The program focuses on the creation of new music with the theme of Ontario places, sounds, and historical and cultural ties. Students receive hands-on performance and composition opportunities, and develop an awareness of and appreciation for Ontario's contemporary cultural environment.

ENHANCE YOUR CONCERT EXPERIENCE

Looking for an opportunity to engage with the artists featured in our concerts?

Esprit hosts Pre-Concert Chats in Koerner Hall immediately before every concert. Each discussion is hosted by Juno award-winning Canadian composer Alexina Louie. Previous guest artists have included José Evangelista, Chris Paul Harman, and Véronique Mathieu, all featured in our 2017-2018 concert season.

All Pre-Concert Chats are free with your ticket purchase and start at 7:15pm – 45 minutes before showtime.
